Waveland School Opening Set

Legion Plans Rodeo Sept. 5

The Clement R. Bontemps Post 139 of the American Legion has announced plans for a Junior Fishing Rodeo on September 5, the Saturday before Labor Day.

Prizes will be awarded for the longest fish of each class that is caught. All awards will be made in cash.

Children entering the First Grade are requested to bring their birth certificates.

The faculty for the coming session will be Miss Mary Perkins, principle; 7th and 8th grades; Mrs. Herman Mazarakis, 5th and 6th grades; Miss Cecile Turcotte, 3rd and 4th grades; Miss Margaret Turcotte, 1st and 2nd grades; and Mrs. W. A. Mapp, music.

Meanwhile, tourist traffic will tail off some the end of summer.

And a third point is that it costs money to maintain the bridge right along, so every penny taken in is not profit.

One steals a page from the construction book of the new bridge. Wrecking work will start at the draw, and go east first, then west.

Big cranes will pull up the old bridge, load it onto barges and this will be taken to the Merritt-Chapman & Scott yards in Henderson Point. There the pieces will be dismantled.

But all of the work cannot be done this way. And that's how the old bridge gets a trip over the new bridge.

Some of the bridge at the Bay St. Louis side will be dismantled, put on trucks, and carted over the new bridge to the Henderson Point yards.

The piling will probably be pulled out by crane.

Hancock County will get one-third of the lumber and all of the piling of 2,000 feet of the bridge. The state highway department gets two-thirds of the lumber, but none of the piling.

The city plans to get this from the county and construct a public pier.

Meanwhile, traffic hummed over the new bridge. One need appear to be a larger "25 cent toll" sign at the approaches. Too many drivers seem to find the need to ask the toll when they reach the gates.

The first week's "take" indicated that the bridge could be paid for in little over a year. But of course, a more sober observation proves otherwise.

On the Henderson Point side, fear and photography also prevailed. Mrs. Margie Zander said that her husband was outside when the spout first appeared.

"He came running inside," she said, "telling us to get the kids on the floor. He wouldn't let me go out for the longest. We were really scared."

However, Mrs. Zander said that Raymond Kierr of New Orleans, who was visiting them, ran out on the pier with a movie camera to take pictures. Mr. Kierr has not yet had the films developed.

Occupants of a car driving along the beach road apparently had the same reaction, Mrs. Schaff reported. When the spout was first visible the car started to turn off the road. But when it appeared to be harmless, the driver turned back on South Beach.

Mrs. Schaff's son, Robert, apparently lacked the caution of his mother. Bob ran out and took a picture of the phenomena which appears in this issue.

From South Beach, Robert Schaff caught this photo Sunday of a waterspout which weaved over the Bay-Pass area of the Gulf Coast.

CUTTING A RUG—Henry Capdepon and Patsy Shadoin lead the revelry as Papa Coletin played for the anniversary of the Bay St. Louis Youth Center last week. The Youth Center fund drive now is on, and contributions are urged.

EVEN THE OLD BRIDGE WILL RIDE OVER THE NEW BRIDGE

Even the old bridge will take a trip over the new bridge. As wrecking work began on the creaky old structure, two unique plans were established for the destruction.

Furthermore, tourist traffic will tail off some the end of summer.

And a third point is that it costs money to maintain the bridge right along, so every penny taken in is not profit.

The wrecking work on the old bridge is based principally on the theory that as much material as possible will be saved for future use. The highway department's plan of scraping off the old concrete is an illustration of this.

But all of the work cannot be done this way. And that's how the old bridge gets a trip over the new bridge.

Taylor School: Mrs. Joe Howze, Bay High: Mrs. Elizabeth Becken, Lunchroom Manager; Mr. Clarence Randolph Maintenance supervisor.

For one thing, the new bridge is an attraction of interest for local folks now. Many pour over it, especially on Sundays, just to enjoy the new structure.

Miss Arceneaux Is Married To Richard Gatti

Miss Nannette Louise Arceneaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Arceneaux became the bride of Richard Alfred Gatti of Kenosha, Wis., in a morning ceremony Thursday.

The Lady of the Gulf Church was decorated for the occasion, with white flowers, the altar with spray arrangements. Monsignor A. J. Gmelch officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of nylon tulle over satin topped by a fitted bodice of chantilly lace which formed the two panels falling to the hem of the dress. Her veil was held in place by a coronet of pearls and rhinestones. She carried white bride's roses and fleur d'amour mounted on a mother-of-pearl prayer book.

Maid of honor was Miss Bonnie Roper of Bay St. Louis; matron of honor, Mrs. Virginia Department of Hattiesburg; bridesmaids, Miss Betty Jo Simpson of Gulfport and Miss Mary Jane Green of this city. They wore dresses of white nylon tulle over taffeta and carried blue asters in cascade arrangements.

Mr. Louis Gatti, brother of the groom, was best man and groomsman were Mr. Andre Arceneaux and Menou Arceneaux of Lafayette, Louisiana.

The bride's mother wore a gown of lavender tissue chambray and white accessories.

Following a reception at the Reed Hotel, the couple left for a honeymoon in Florida. They will make their home at 1809 75th St. Kenosha, Wisconsin.

Out of town guests at the wedding were: Mrs. Joseph Gatti, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gatti and son, Miss Julia Menou, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Arceneaux and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Benheim and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Arceneaux and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bonchi and son, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Simpson.

Cleta Ray Miller Tells Lions Of Her Band Trip

A happy, cheering crowd of softball enthusiasts turned out Tuesday evening as spectators at the free game played by the Nite Hawks of Pass Christian and the Lawrence Hill team of Gulfport at the local ball park. Despite the fact, the opposing team won a victory of 11 to 1, enthusiasm ran high for there was much to celebrate.

Tavis Begue received for the Nite Hawks the perpetual "Jack Fairchild" trophy which was presented by Attorney Randal C. Jones, president of the War Memorial Foundation Association.

Funds obtained through the Parker Memorial Contribution paid for the Softball Grounds, bleachers and other initial expenses and a bond issue of $6,000 was sold to clear, fill and grade the park grounds. "It would be just about impossible," declared Mr. Griffon "to list all the people who generously helped us to clear our debt." One of the big things that helped to pay off the indebtedness was last Saturday night's dance given at the Pass Yacht Club.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars donated a $100 bond.

Original sponsors of the Softball team was the Pass Christian Rotary Club.

She told the Lions how the Mississippi unit placed fifth out of 40 entrants in the national band competition. Cleta Ray played the bassoon, and was directed by state band director Roy Martin of Greenwood.

The Mississippi Band, which had 85 pieces, was made up of high school students throughout the state who tried out at Canton.

Cleta Ray was the only participant from Bay St. Louis who was chosen to play in the band.

The state band uniforms were Confederate types, grey with red trimmings, a red sash and a Confederate cap.

The Lions also heard a report from Rev. C. S. Schultz who discussed the recent meeting between townspeople and the Louis-

SEA COAST ECHO, FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 1953

Section Two

In the lonely theater, Marie Blair directs her cast.

Mrs. Blair instructs Dennie Tonkel, Karen Kergosien and Dewey Blair.

Producing a play for the LITTLE THEATRE is a BIG JOB

The lights go on - and the play begins.

But there are months of work which precede this tense moment for the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre.

Take the current production of "The Man." You see a total of seven in the cast. But more than 30 persons are involved. You enjoy the play for two hours. But the work began back in January eight months ago.

The first step for the theatre each year is the appointment of the production committee in January or February. This year the committee consists of Mrs. Marie Louise Blair, Mrs. Areline Samuel, Mrs. K. Y. Assenheimer, Mrs. Emily deMontuzin and Dr. Haywood Keefe.

They read plays - plays - and more plays.

And they select their program. It takes four votes out of five to pick a play.

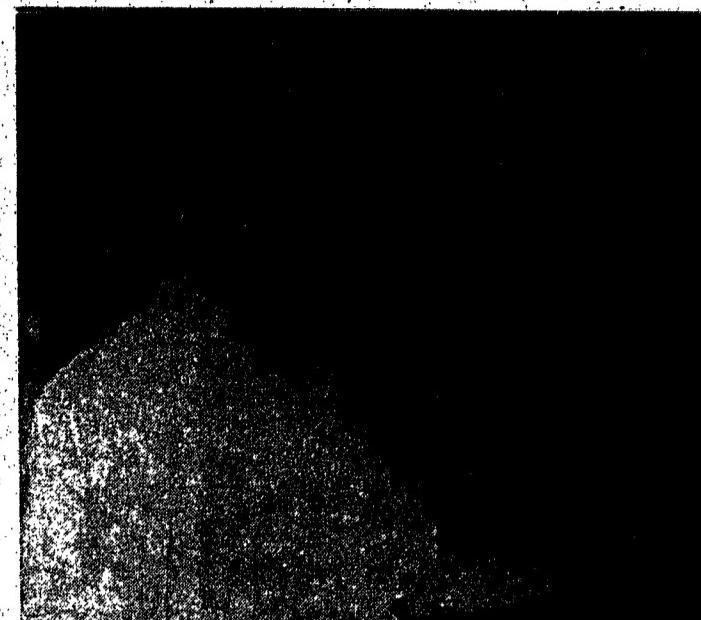

Then the real work starts. For "The Man," for example, the open reading came in May. Anyone interested in a part could try out.

When the cast was selected, rehearsals began. Hammers banged away at building scenery. Lights blinked experimentally. The performers perspired as they tried on heavy winter clothing - their costumes.

The heroes and heroines performed behind the scenes knowing they'd never hear the burst of applause. Mrs. Olga Kennedy scurried about for props. Hope Crasto propped in a chair just off the stage and learned all the parts better than the performers - for she was their prompter.

Camille Schaefer worked with the lights.

Finally comes the dress rehearsal - and jitters. Then comes opening night - and double jitters. And the play goes on!

Meeting At Pass

Officers and charter members of the Mississippi Seven Arts Commission entertained a group of distinguished personalities at Chateau Sherman, home of Mrs. George C. Gundlach, in Pass Christian, on Tuesday in order to acquaint them with the aims and objectives of the Commission.

This was not a fisherman's dream according to Skipper Victor Gho - he netted a thrasher shark which weighed 3700 pounds in the Pacific Ocean near Santa Cruz, California. The 20-foot monster was reported to be the largest thrasher shark caught near that area. It did $1000 damage to Gho's net.

Car Burner Sentenced

The pastime of burning cars in order to collect insurance is proving a dangerous one in Mississippi where observant law enforcers remain alert for such abuses.

One such case in Wayne County developed at the July term of circuit court, when Hal C. West, colored, was indicted and received a minimum sentence of one year in the pen.

Patrolman Austin investigated the burning of West's car on May 13, 1953, and declared he saw prints of a 5-gallon oil can in the dirt by the side of the road, also detected spilled gasoline, then followed the tracks of the spare tire to West's home where he said he found the gas can and the tire. The car was a 1948 model Mercury coupe and the scene of the fire was one-half mile north of the lake.

After indictment by the grand jury West pleaded guilty to the charge, and due to his plea of guilty received the minimum sentence of one year in the state penitentiary.

Irma Marie Kenney received a Master of Music degree from Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge last week at the summer commencement program.

Miss Kenney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Kenney of this city, completed her course with a recital at L.S.U. earlier in the month. She is a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy and Gulf Park College. Last year she received her bachelor's degree.

Miss Kenney, 23, was among 460 students who received degrees at the ceremony.

Melva Lee Luke celebrated her sixth birthday August 10. A party was held at her parents home 333 St. John St., on the lawn. Refreshments were served. Chocolate cake and punch, small cups of candy and favors. Approximately 43 of her friends attended.

Capt. and Mrs. Fred Deal have Mrs. Deal's brother, Mr. Dave Kates of New Orleans, visiting.

During the past year 117 people have received surgery and treatment, 38 have received hospitalization and 103 have been rehabilitated and placed in work.

In a typical case the state agency cited the case of a blind person who had been receiving
